Greetings! from Apollo College of Nursing, Chennai.

Apollo hospitals is India's first ISO, JCI and NABH certified health care provider with exceptional clinical success rates and superior technology aiming at providing quality health care. Apollo College of nursing is a unit of Apollo hospitals which delivers world class education with the state of art infrastructure and worldwide recognition providing quality nursing education.

Since its inception conferences and seminars are held recurrently to update the knowledge and skills of nursing personnel. Now Apollo College of nursing has organized an international seminar on Dementia care -Deriving nursing solutions. Eminent international speakers will share their knowledge during this seminar.

It is a well known fact that life expectancy in India has increased from 37 years in 1950 to 65 years in 2011. On the other hand multiple illnesses including dementia are also on the rise among the elderly.

An estimated 3.7 million Indians, aged over 60 years, have dementia. Dementia is often underdiagnosed as it is considered as a normal part of old age.

Living with dementia can have a major emotional, social, psychological and practical impact on a person. It is very important to focus on what the person still does have, not on what they may have lost. Nurses play a vital role in identifying and caring a sick person to preserve their strengths, meet their needs and improve their quality of life.

When nurses understand dementia, they can find better strategies to plan and implement quality care.

This international seminar is aimed to empower the nursing personnel on dementia care to provide quality care by understanding, supporting and responding appropriately to the patients with dementia.
