State Nursing Seminar - 2016

Greetings from Apollo College of Nursing, Chennai

“As we look ahead into the next century leaders will be those who empower others”

Nursing profession requires strong, consistent and knowledgeable leaders, who are visible, inspire others and support professional nursing practice. Leadership plays a pivotal role in the lives of nurses. It is an essential element for quality professional practice environments where nurses can provide quality nursing care.

There are many identified styles of leadership, and Servant Leadership is one that has grown in popularity in the last few years. In the 1970's, Robert Greenleaf created this term to describe leaders who influence and motivate others by building relationships and developing the skills of individual team members. A Servant Leader is a servant first begins with the natural feeling that one wants to serve to serve first and makes sure the needs of the individual team members are addressed. In this style of leadership, the entire team has input into decision making based on the organization's values and ideals. Servant leaders create devoted followers in response to positive attention they give.

As responsible members of health care fraternity, Apollo Hospitals renders quality care by empowering the leaders at various levels of health care. As a Unit of Apollo Hospitals, Apollo college of Nursing being reputed and pioneer institution in nursing has organized this state nursing seminar which will strengthen the participants to understand the concept of servant leadership and various strategies on restructuring the leadership outlook to enhance professionalism in nursing.
