Greetings from

Apollo College of Nursing, Chennai.

Nursing education is a key to the excellence of nursing practice. Changes in nursing education keep pace with challenges in nursing profession. The global change in health care environment has great impact on the nursing education.

Evaluation is an integral part of education. Nursing is a practice based discipline in which clinical evaluation plays a crucial role. Clinical evaluation is one of the challenging tasks of health care professionals. Selection of suitable evaluation methods will enhance nursing students' learning ability and performance in clinical tasks.

The OSPE - Objective Structured Practical Examination is more comprehensive, systematic and objective and provides a uniform basis for evaluation of students overcoming the problems associated with Traditional practical Examination. The OSCE sessions not only help the students determine their own weaknesses but also enable the teachers to realize what were the current students' abilities and weakness.

OSPE has been described extensively in the literature and it is widely accepted and used in medicine and recently introduced in Nursing. However its use in Psychiatric Nursing is very much limited, due to lack of awareness, resources, ignorance etc.

This training program is designed in such a way to empower the participants to understand the concepts, strategies, management of resources, development of OSPE stations and checklists with special focus on Psychiatric Nursing. We believe that this program will help the participants in learning OSPE approach in evaluating the students to develop interest and sharpen their clinical skills to promote the quality of students' performance.

When used correctly OSPE/OSCE can be highly successful as an instrument to assess the competence
